Emergence Seas

[Dedicated to Luna & Cynwal]

Oh, I was living right beyond the sideways
Just at the time when poppies were glowing,
Looking upon those crowded highways,
Thinking: "where the fuck are they all going?"

But I got tired to watch that endless steaming,
I moved away and then I turned around;
It was a whole wild world that I was facing
And I went on without making a sound...

Sometimes I climbed up on the highest mounds
Sometimes I rambled down the lowest grounds
But I've never missed the occasion of drifting

On emergence seas (x4)

Now I'm living just beyond the horizon
Right underneath an ever shining sun
I play with dolphins and I have no gun
I feel like God's forever wanted Son

But I'm just a universe's emanation
Searching for its own identity,
Gently smiling at its petty creation
Embracing all of its eternity...

Well, I make the best of uncertainties

Hmm... I get the most of probabilities
And I never miss the occasion of drifting

On emergence seas (x4)

Yes I fly with the wind
And I cry with the rain
O I shine with the sun
I combine with the mind

And sometimes I climb up on the highest mounds
Yeah sometimes I ramble down the lowest grounds
But I never miss the occasion of drifting

On emergence seas (x4)
